

The Pelican Todd Gustafson Photo Safari Rolling Camera/Computer Case (Chocolate Brown with Tan Leather Trim) was designed in conjunction with photo safari leader Todd Gustafson. The case is the maximum allowable size for international airline carry-on regulations. It has a removable laptop shoulder bag can carry a laptop with a screen up to 17", cords, chargers, and other personal items in the many pockets. When it's time to board the plane, the laptop bag is unzipped from the rolling case, and goes under the seat while the roller goes overhead. The case has an outer shell made from polyester 4x4 canvas with reinforced high-wear areas,

The interior of the case has removable foam, a 210 denier coated nylon lining and a removable divider tray. A removable storm cover protects the case when the elements turn mean. There is an attached top front pocket for accessories. Tripod holding straps with quick release buckles are on the side of the case. A removable storm cover protects the case when the elements turn mean and fits into zippered zipper pocket. The case is transported by a padded top handle, padded side handle, a hidden, recessed, telescoping tow handle and built-in, in-line skate-type wheels.
